Thursday 15th February 2018
14:30 – 16:30

Meeting Room – Third Floor, Via Verdi 26 Trento

MAURO CASELLI
ANDREA FRACASSO
SILVIO TRAVERSO

Economic Integration and Electoral Outcome in Italy

Mauro Caselli is Assistant Professor in the School of International Studies at the University of Trento. He obtained a PhD in Economics (University of Oxford) in 2011. His main fields of research are international trade and development, labour, technology adoption and productivity.

Andrea Fracasso is Full professor in Political Economy and Director of the School of International Studies at the University of Trento. After graduating in Political Economics at the University of Trento (1998), he earned a Master of Science in Economics (University of York), a Diplome d’Études Approfondies in International Economics and a PhD in International Economics (Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva). Since 2014, he has been Associate Editor of Political Economics for the Journal of Analytical and Institutional Economics and member of the Committee for the Development and the Modernization of the Public Sector in the Autonomous Province of Trento. His scientific publications include interdisciplinary studies about international trade, European integration and virtual water trade. His articles appeared on many international publications, among which the Journal of International Economics, the Journal of International Money and Finance, the Journal of Common Market Studies, and Ecological Economics.

Silvio Traverso is a Post-doctoral researcher working at the School of International Studies at the University of Trento. He owns a PhD in Economics (University of Florence). Silvio does research in Econometrics, Development Economics and Microeconomics.