What does being a RESEARCH MUSEUM mean?

- Understand the biography of our objects
- Preserve the objects and narrate them
- Make the material culture visible for our visitors
- Go back to Egypt | the excavation campaign
- We do not preserve only objects, but also human remains.
- Share our knowledge
Preserve the objects and narrate them

Statues also Die. Conflict and Heritage between Ancient and Contemporary
The exhibition itinerary focused on the role of the Museum which emerged in the 20th century as a place for protecting and preserving a Heritage that belongs, at least in theory, to all humanity.
Go back to Egypt | the excavation campaign
We do not preserve only objects, but also human remains

In full awareness of the fact that there is no single answer to the question about the acceptability or otherwise of the display of human remains, and that a variety of exhibition strategies have been adopted by different institutions on the international scene, these study days are intended to give voice to the broad range of approaches to such a delicate issue.
