Erasmus Mundus Joint Master Degree IMSISS
Opening Lecture

Lasse Lindekilde - Department of Political Science - University of Aarhus

Chair: Louisa R. Parks - SIS IMSISS Coordinator - University of Trento

Abstract

Prof. Lindekilde will discuss how analyzing relational configurations of radicalized actors and their evolution over time can offer a way of identifying discrete patterns of radicalization. Relational patterns are informative not only because they locate and specify sources of radicalizing exposure, but also because social ties are cardinal vectors of intervention. The presentation will draw upon a number of empirical research projects.

Lasse Lindekilde is professor at the Department of Political Science, Aarhus University. He holds a PhD from the European University Institute. His research is focused on political mobilization, violent radicalization and the implementation and effects of counter-terrorism policies and communication.

Pre-registration

Pre-registration is required: to register click HERE.

The event is organized in the framework of the Erasmus Mundus International Master in Security, Intelligence & Strategic Studies Consortium Agreement.

CONTACTS

UNIVERSITY OF TRENTO - SCHOOL OF INTERNATIONAL STUDIES
Via Tommaso Gar, 14 - Trento
Tel. +39 0461 283121-25-05
e-mail: sis@sis.unitn.it
www.sis.unitn.it
FB: SISUniTrento