27th Annual Colloquium of the SIEPM

Medieval Debates on Foreknowledge: Future Contingents, Prophecy, and Divination

12-15 September 2023, 14.30

Room 001, Palazzo Paolo Prodi
Via Tommaso Gar 14, Trento

In the Middle Ages, foreknowledge, understood both as divine prescience and as the human ability to foresee future events, was the subject of intense research conducted in several disciplinary fields. The colloquium aims to explore different conceptual constellations (future contingents, divinely inspired and natural prophecy, divinatory dream, scientific prognostication, and other conjectural disciplines), provide historical reconstructions and doctrinal analyses, and investigate the specific theories and contributions of medieval authors.
